Restorative Practice

We have trained all our service delivery staff in restorative practices. The concepts, values and principles of restorative justice allows staff to use these practices in their daily work. Our project staff are also trained in the practice of restorative justice within criminal justice processes, allowing them to engage, prepare and facilitate victims and perpetrators in restorative conferences.

Includem staff offer support and accountability post conference. We are also able to support restorative approaches to serious harm cases such as hate crime, inter-group violence, and some gender-based violence.
